SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA RAILWAY MUSEUM CLOSING UNTIL APRIL 30, 2020

March 13, 2020, Perris California– The Southern California Railway Museum (SCRM), in accordance with the order from the Health Officer of the County of Riverside, will be closing the museum until April 30th, 2020.

“The health and safety of our employees, members, guests, and volunteers is our primary concern,” stated Hank Winn, CEO of Southern California Railway Museum. “We will be monitoring the situation closely and posting any updates on our website at socalrailway.org.”

SCRM will continue to follow guidance from local and state officials, as well as the Centers for Disease Control (CDC). We believe this is the right decision for our guests, associates, and community.

Southern California Railway Museum hosts the West’s largest collection of railway locomotives, passenger and freight cars, streetcars, interurban electric cars, buildings and other artifacts dating from the 1870’s. The collection includes streetcars, interurban electric cars, and working full sized trains on the Museum railway. The Museum’s collection of more than 200 streetcars and railway vehicles gives a glimpse of the early days of electric, steam, and diesel railway transportation in and around Los Angeles.
